

Identify your skin type

MAKEUP CLIENT

Summary		Characteristics
NORMAL	Normal skin is neither too dry nor too oily. It has regular texture, no imperfections and a clean, soft appearance, and does not need special care.	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Your skin isn't really sensitive to products, and rarely experience breakouts• It stays consistent during the day, and rarely gets oiler or dryer• Dryness or oiliness only happens seasonally
OILY	Oily skin is exactly what it sounds like – excess oil on the face produces a persistently shiny or greasy appearance.	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Prone to acne, blackheads and breakouts• Your skin tends to look greasy by the middle of the day, irrespective of the weather• Enlarged, visible pores
DRY	Dry skin is associated with the skin not having enough moisture content. Characterised by itching and flaking of the skin.	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• You don't get greasy skin throughout the day• Flaking skin & dry patches are common• After cleansing, your face is prone to feeling dry, itchy or tight• Your skin can appear to look dull• Fine lines look more noticeable
COMBINATION	Combination skin is characterised by an oily forehead, nose, and chin and relatively dry cheeks.	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Having acne and dry patches at the same time can be quite common• Your skin is oily around your T-zone, but your cheeks are often dry• Visible pores in your T-zone area
SENSITIVE	Sensitive skin generally refers to skin that is more prone to inflammation.	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Prone to reactions from new cosmetic products• Skin often gets red unexpectedly, or itchy• Fragrance tends to irritate your skin• You experience conditions such as eczema, psoriasis or rosacea